SAMUEL HADLEY (George, Samuel, George)

OF
MASSACHUSETTS and NEW HAMPSHIRE

See Coffin's, New Hampshire, History, by George W. Coffin, published 1924 for a fuller account of the above family. Also Samuel's History of Ipswich, Mass. The Coffin's History is authoritative for 1632, at least about Joseph Hadley. Some recent Hadley research calls in for revision sponsors the belief that Joseph went to New York and later Massachusetts.
The present edition agrees with that George Hadley was born younger than a birth around 1600 and was born in England. I believe the Coffin's History that estimate, based on contemporary testimony as to his age, and that history has done some very fine genealogical work. My own study has been practically exclusively with later generations.

 1924 for a fuller account of the above family. Also Babson's History of Gloucester, Mass. The Goffstown History is authority for the ^{quoted} statement about Joseph² Hadley. Some recent Hadley research made in Pennsylvania sponsors the belief that Joseph² went to New York and left descendants.
 The probabilities seem strong that George Hadley was much younger than a birth around 1600 would make him; but I believe the Goffstown History makes that estimate, based on contemporary testimony as to his age; and that History
 has done some very fine genealogical work. My own study has been practically

² Samuel Hadley (George¹) removed from Rowley to Amesbury, Massachusetts, previous to 1657; was a weaver; in the training band; tything man in 1702; member of the church in the west parish of Amesbury and taxed for support of the preaching in said west parish in 1726; was a soldier in the Narragansett War and received a grant of land in Duxton, Maine, and also granted a half share in the township of Warner, N. "The location of his home was in the northwesterly corner of Amesbury near the point of intersection of the town lines of Amesbury and Haverhill in Massachusetts and Plaistow and Newton in New Hampshire."

This record is particularly concerned with the above family of Samuel.⁴

A Sarah Whittaker was born November 10, 1710, Haverhill, Mass., to William, Jr., and Deborah (Harrison). Her father was probably the William Whittaker born Dec. 4, 1687, in Haverhill, to William and Sarah (Harrison); and probably grandson of Abraham and Elizabeth (Harrison) Whittaker whose son William was born Dec. 31, 1668, Haverhill, Mass.

Plaistow, N. H., town records included the above record of the births of the children of Samuel and Sarah (Whittaker) Hadley; and also the marriage of Samuel Hadley and Sarah Whittaker, Feb. 5, 1735.

Concord, New Hampshire, Historical Building

The deeds and probate records of New Hampshire prior to 1771 (when counties were formed) were formerly kept in the office of the Secretary of State, where they were remarkably indexed. About 1932 the New Hampshire legislature voted that they and the index could be kept in the fine Historical Society building, diagonally across the street from the State House.

The Hopkinton land was lot 17, and the boundary touched the southeast corner of a 37 acre lot laid out to William Eastman and Ezekiah Foster and ran along one line of that lot; also to a "maple tree at Southerly end of Sun Haven meadow Intervale lot" .. "Easterly on said Intervale lot" to a pine tree on the south side of Contoocook river" and ran southerly down that river .. to a "Cherre tree" .. also touched James Seales land. Deed signed by Stephen Harriman and his wife Sarah on May 16, 1766; and both acknowledged their signatures July 19, 1774. Recorded Dec. 10, 1777. The March 26, 1763 deed from Samuel Hadley to his son Ezekiel Hadley, recorded in Concord, was to fifty acres of the above purchase.

March 21, 1774 (vol. 5, p. 333) - Samuel Hadley of Hopkinton, N. H., yeoman, for 30 pounds paid "by my beloved son Ezekiel Hadley of Hopkinton", yeoman, deeded the remaining part of the 85 acres - "it being part of eighty-five acres which I bought several years ago of Mr. Stephen Harriman, then of Plastow, now of Hopkinton aforesaid Esquire; the rest of the said eighty five acres, namely fifty acres of it I sold to the said Ezekiel Hadley, by a Deed bearing date, March 26th 1763". Land was partly bounded by "a lot of land laid out to Jacob Straw thence on said Straw land to his" southwest corner; also touched land of "Mr. James Seales". Oct. 6, 1777 (vol. 4, p. 541) - Ezekiel Hadley of Hopkinton, N. H., yeoman, for 15 pounds bought of Harriman "a certain Intervale Lot", No. 9 on the southerly side of Contoocook River in Hopkinton; west side joined on land "Amphrey Bailey bought of Moses Conner"; south end joined partly on Hadley's land.

Going back to some other Concord deeds, which would better have been given in order of dates signed:

Feb. 2, 1740 (vol. 36, p. 212) - Benjamin Hadley of Amesbury, Mass., deeded Amesbury land to Goodwin.

1747 (vol. 59, p. 531) - Benjamin Hadley of Amesbury District bought land in Haverhill District (Windsor or vicinity) from Nathaniel Johnson of Haverhill.

Aug. 25, 1749 (vol. 59, p. 65) - Benjamin Hadley deeded to Samuel Hadley, both of Salisbury & Amesbury District in the Province of New Hampshire, yeoman, for 1500 pounds, two pieces of land. One piece being 30 acres in Haverhill District in New Hampshire, bounded northeast on the line between Haverhill and Amesbury. The other piece, 55 acres, "being part of a Farm laid out to the Right of On Sargent and by divers Conveyances handed down to the present Grantor Benjamin Hadley". It was bounded southwest on Haverhill line .. "in Salisbury and Amesbury District in New Hampshire aforesaid at a place called Jerby Hill." Signed, Benjamin Hadley his mark; ackn. May 3, 1754; recorded June 9, 1769.

Ackn., Plastow Sept. 5, 1762; rec., Sept. 16, 1762; wit., Samuel Harriman, Enoch Blandol.

89 367

October 30, 1765 (vol. 27, p. 225) - ~~Samuel~~ Samuel Hadley and Sarah Hadley of Plasterwood deed to Joseph Welch of Plasterwood, land in Plasterwood and New Town; a tract of 53 acres which ran to the Almsbury line, to a highway, to land of John Hadley and James Hly, and of Timothy and Peter Dow. Body of deed has the spelling; Samuel Hadley; signed, Samuel Hadlee, and Sarah Hadley her mark; both acknowledged the signatures at Plasterwood, Dec. 29, 1766; rec., Jan. 7, 1767.

I do not know whether or not the Sarah who signed the above deed was the Sarah Whittaker whom Samuel Hadley married Feb. 5, 1735/6; or whether he was the Samuel Hadley who married Sarah Woodward February 7, 1765 in Hempstead, N. H. My opinion is strong that he was the "Mr. Hadley of Hopkinton, N. H." who married Catherine Annis of Tarnor, N. H., February 11, 1779, in Tarnor. This is based on the fact that the Jan. 29, 1793 will of his son Eschiel proves that he was then alive, and practically proves that Eschiel's mother was not living; and strongly suggests that Samuel was not living with his son Eschiel nor with his other children; and the fact that the 1790 census gives a Samuel Hadley as head of a Tarnor, N. H., family consisting of only himself and a female, and that that census gives no other Samuel Hadley, who seems to fit the situation. ^{no other in N. H. as head of family} The strong probabilities are that Catherine Annis had Tarnor property when she married "Mr. Hadley of Hopkinton" and that they did the natural thing of living on the, doubtless, farm.

Samuel Hadley and Eschiel Hadley signed the Hopkinton, N. H., 1776 Association Test.

The 1790 census showed Eschiel Hadley of Hopkinton, N. H., alone; no other member in his household.

Abel Hadley, oldest child of Samuel and Sarah (Whittaker) Hadley, served in the 1757 Crown Point Expedition (see Hempstead, N. H. History, p. 266). And he was Corporal from April 14 to Dec. 6, 1761 (see Haverhill, Mass., Hist., p. 353). He married Eunice Theron in Hempstead, Nov. 20, 1758; and they had three children: Ephraim, Eunice, Isaac. Abel Hadley died before Jan. 29, 1793, but his children were then living; Ephraim was in Machias, Maine, by the 1790 census, and took his family there afterward, from Ware, N. H.

Amos Hadley, second child of Samuel and Sarah (Whittaker) Hadley it is my especial interest to identify, and there seems no chance to question that he was the Amos Hadley of Dunbarton, N. H. Not only does every circumstance indicate it; but there is no other Amos Hadley known to exist who could have the son of Samuel and Sarah, who was living Jan. 29, 1793, when his brother Eschiel of the neighboring town of Hopkinton named his brother Amos in his, Eschiel's, will. Some Concord deeds and the Dunbarton, N. H. History help to demonstrate.

On page 4 are two deeds to Benjamin Hadley, first of Amesbury, Mass., next of Amesbury District; and third from Benjamin to Samuel Hadley on Aug. 25, 1740. In 1756 Benjamin Hadley of Kings Town (later Derryfield, and in 1810 named Manchester), N. H. bought land there. 1752 Benjamin Hadley of Derryfield bought Cofftown, N. H. land. Dec. 16, 1757 (vol. 29, p. 225), Benjamin Hadley of Derryfield, N. H., bought land in Starks Town (later Dunbarton), N. H., from Eschiel Straw of South Hampton. March 18, 1760 (vol. 59, p. 534), Benjamin Hadley of Derryfield bought Dunbarton land of Ezra Gatchel of South Hampton. Nov. 30, 1764 (vol. 92, p. 37), Benjamin Hadley of Starks Town (Dunbarton) sold Cofftown land.

History of Dunbarton, N. H., by Stark, pub. 1860. Page 13: "Many of the original settlers of Starks Town (as Dunbarton was first called) were from Derryfield and Londonderry. Others came directly from France and Scotland. Several families from the vicinity of Ipswich, Massachusetts, took up land near each other, in the southern border of the town, while individuals from Haverhill, Hampstead, and other towns in Massachusetts, located themselves in different parts of it." In 1770, the population was 497. Page 16 - In 1771, the fourth lot in the sixth range was voted to be sold for fifty dollars ($50) to any person who would obligate himself to build a corn-mill on the lot for the use of the town. - It was voted to Benjamin Hadley, March 12, 1771. It is supposed he built and probably passed from him to a Woodbury for by 1789 it was called by Woodbury's name.

April 9, 1770 (vol. 30, p. 427, Concord), Amos Hadley of Dunbarton, N. H., yeoman, bought fifty acres of Dunbarton land of Daniel Pierce, Esq., of Portsmouth, N. H. The land was the north side of lot number one in the 5th range. Deed signed, acknowledged, and recorded April 9, 1770.

March 30, 1777 (vol. 20, p. 153, Nashua), Amos Hadley of Dunbarton, N. H., yeoman, bought of Joseph Cogg of Atkinson, N. H., 50 acres in Dunbarton. The land was one-half of lot 70, one in the 3th range of lots on south side of lot 10 as it was laid out to the original right of John McDuffee by the committee of said town. Signed "twentieth day of March Anno Domini 1777 and in the first year of American Independence". Wit.: Sebulon Gestehe (L?), James Clement. Ackn., March 22, 1777; recorded, Oct. 26, 1791.

Amos Hadley (Samuel⁴, George³, Samuel², George¹), born October 12, 1733, died after January 29, 1793, is the only known descendant of the immigrant George Hadley, or of any other New England Hadley, to have been named Amos, up to fully 1760, and if my memory serves me right until years later. So practically it is conclusive that Amos Hadley of Dunbarton, N. H., was the son of Samuel and Sarah (Whittaker) Hadley, and the brother of Ezekiel Hadley of Hopkinton, N. H.

January 29, 1793 (vol. 5, p. 311, Probate Office, Nashua, N. H.), "Will of Ezekiel Hadley, late of Hopkinton, in said County of Hillsborough, deceased," presented for probate April 16, 1793, by the widow.

"Inprimis: I give and bequeath unto Eleanor my beloved wife all my lands and buildings which I am the owner of & all my live stock farming tools & household goods with & provisions which I am now the possessor off her delivering or paying unto those who I shall mention hereafter, namely

"Item I give & bequeath unto my Honoured Father Samuel Hadley three pound & a cow I have now in keeping for him & for him to enjoy peaceably so much of my land as he has now a lease of & if that should prove insufficient to support him then he is to have an addition out of my other estate yearly as much as shall be thought necessary for his comfortable support during his natural life.

"Item I give & bequeath unto Ephraim Hadley & Uris Straw and Lois Davis - the children of my brother Abel Hadley late deceased ten shillings to be paid to each of them by my executor in one year after my decease

"Item I give & bequeath unto my Brother Amos Hadley thirty shillings to be paid by my executor in one year after my decease.

"Item I give & bequeath unto my Brother Simon Hadley thirty shillings" etc.

"Item I give & bequeath unto my sister Sarah Connor the wife of Capt. Moses Connor thirty shillings" etc.

"Lastly, I do" .. "appoint Eleanor my said wife to be executor" etc

"In witness whereof I have herunto set my hand and seal this twenty Ninth Day of January one thousand seven hundred and Ninety three." Signed, Ezekiel Hadley. Wit.: Stephen Harrison Junior, John Eaton, Stephen Harrison.

The order of the names of the four grantor brothers is the same in the body of the deed and for the signatures, and it is doubtless the order of their ages; confirmed by the dates of birth that we know. The deed was given about a month before the mother was to marry a second time, a consideration that probably influenced the settlement; and only about two months before the coming of age of Samuel, the brother to whom the land was deeded. While the deed does not state that Samuel was a brother to the grantors; it is known by his descendants still living in Dunbarton that he was and the date of his age. Also that Amos and Israel were other brothers and the dates of their birth and to whom they were married. This information came from Mrs. Alice M. Hadley, (wife of David M. Hadley, a descendant of Samuel,) who wrote Oct. 22, 1939. Mrs. Hadley is a genealogical investigator of the family line. She was also sure that Stephen Hadley was another brother, and placed his possible age as next younger than Abel; and queried whether he was the Stephen Hadley who married Feb. 2, 1736, Mary Cheney of Dunbarton, born 1761, dau. of Daniel and Elizabeth (Hadley) Cheney. Stephen and Mary had eight children; record given in the Goffstown History. Mrs. Hadley also queried whether Philip, Nathaniel, Dolly, and Henry might not be children of Amos and Dolly. Upon finding the further record of Dolly there can be no practical doubt but that she was the daughter of Amos and Dolly; for she married Daniel Smith of Goffstown, N. H., March 1, 1803, in Dunbarton, and named her first child, Amos H. Smith.

Andrew Dolly Hadley was the second wife of her close neighbor, Hezekiah Woodbury, Sr., who was baptized in Beverly, Mass., Sept. 14, 1740. She was probably approximately of his age; judging also by the fact that her oldest child was born January 13, 1761. And therefore approximately of the age of Amos Hadley, born Oct. 13, 1739. Amos Hadley of Dunbarton named his second and third sons, Abel and Simon; his fourth son, the fifth Samuel; names respectively of Amos Hadley's next older and next younger brothers, of his only sister's husband (residents of Hopkinton), and of his father. (The respective ages of the sons according to the June 22, 1793 deed. Judging by dates, and indications of perhaps only two daughters, but many sons, there may have been a son older than Moses who did not join in the deed. Abel, named administrator with his mother, was most likely the second son.) Amos may, or may not, have had a son Ezekiel. Certainly his son Jonathan was born Feb. 12, 1732, before Ezekiel Hadley of Hopkinton was married to Eleanor Currier. The 1793 census gives Amos Hadley of Dunbarton with a family of 2 - 3 - 3; probably meaning, beside Amos, one son of sixteen or above, and three sons below sixteen; his wife and two daughters. If the census was taken after Aug. 20, 1790, Samuel might have been the one included with his father as of military age. If it was before that date, and Moses was at home - or possibly Stephen? - then Samuel would have belonged with his brothers Amos and Israel in the group of three who were under military age. Obadiah, Abel, and Simon were married before 1790.

Administration on the estate of Amos Hadley, "late of Dunbarton, deceased," began August 13, 1793. His widow was named "Dolly", and her widow's thirds were set off to her, land and part of the house, Aug. 22, 1793; three years after her second marriage. Mrs. Alice M. Hadley thinks her maiden name may have been Sargent. The Record, N. H., History, page 1016, states: "Hezekiah Woodbury, one of the early settlers of Dunbarton, was born in Beverly, Mass. He built the mills in the eastern part of Dunbarton, long known as the Woodbury mills. He had seven children; one of them, Andrew, was born in Dunbarton in 1773." etc.

Aug. 26, 1820 (vol. 130, p. 434, Maine), Samuel Hadley of Dunbarton, Farmer, for $121.00 deeded to Amos Hadley of Dunbarton, Farmer, land in Dunbarton. Part of lot number one in the 5th range. Boundaries begin "at the east corner of the Mill yard at the highway and running northerly by the highway about sixty-three rods" .. "thence southerly about twenty four rods to Goffstown line" .. thence easterly about twenty two rods "on the town line" .. by Archelaus Perkins land about 13 rods. "Also the privilege to take the Story brook from its natural course on to the above premises across my land at pleasure the above premises are a part of lot number one in the fifth range."

A Marshall-Hadley Family Bible is now owned by Mr. Frank Sargent of Johnson, Lamoille County, Vermont; a great grandson of Walker Marshall and Obadiah⁶ Hadley, whose families are therein recorded. The Bible belonged to Mr. Sargent's grandparents, Abel⁷ Hadley, son of Obadiah⁶, and Abel's⁷ wife, Harriet (Marshall), (oldest child of Walker Marshall), of Eden, Vermont; and passed from them to their daughter Loucilla,⁸ who married Samuel Sargent, August 25, 1866, Troy, Vermont.

Straight lines are drawn beneath each of the death records. The faded letters after the "H" in the second death record are doubtless "rs", for "Mrs. Anna Hadley", wife of Obadiah Sr.

By May 20, 1791, Obadiah Hadley was living in that part of Newbury (then called Fishersfield), New Hampshire, that was joined to the town of Bradford, Dec. 6, ~~1796~~ 1796; and he continued to reside in Bradford until at least May 24, 1836, when he deeded land to the town. The births of his and Anna's eleven children are all on the Bradford town record, each in the full form like the following: "Stephen Hadley Son to Obadiah Hadley and Anna his wife was born January 15th 1783". The name of the eighth child is there given as "Jenney Hadley", instead of "Fanny" as the Bible has it. But the town record is from a hundred-years later town clerk's copy. Otherwise the records agree (barring the unimportant town spelling of "Jolley"). A "Fanny Hadley" and William Peters, both of Bradford, N. H., married Jan. 23, 1822, in Sutton, N.H.

When Ezekiel⁷ Hadley, son of Obadiah⁶ and Anna, died in Bradford, N. H., Aug. 6, 1874, aged 82 years, plus; the Bradford town report to the Vital Records Department, State House, Concord, N. H., states that he was born in Bradford; that his father was Obadiah Hadley, and the maiden name of his mother was Gitchell. Mrs. Alice M. Gidley of Dunbarton, N. H., before referred to, wrote Oct. 22, 1920: "Obadiah, born Jan. 13, 1761; married Anna Gitchell (next door almost, in fact the next farm to the north was owned and occupied in very early days by Zebulon Gitchell, and it is probable that Obadiah married his neighbor's daughter, as was customary in the early days. It is said that she was of Sutton at the time of marriage." The Dunbarton History, page 103, shows Zebulon Gitchell as a resident in 1775. See Savage's Gen. Dict. for "Gatchell, or Gatchell, sometimes Gitchell. . . Perhaps the name in our days is commonly Getchell." Also see the "Register", vol. 63, page 265, for the line of Samuel Getchell, who was in Salem, Mass., by 1633, wife was Dorcas, and their son Samuel married Elizabeth Jones of Amesbury, Mass., and they had a son Nathaniel³ who married Susanna Ladd before 1727. Nathaniel³ and Susanna had a son Zebulon born Feb. 12, 1735/6 in Haverhill, Mass., and a daughter Anne, baptised in 1731 and died 1736. Considering the uncommon given and sur names, the strong probabilities are that this Zebulon Gitchell born in Haverhill in 1736 was the one in Dunbarton by 1775.

Starks Brigade raised out of the Regiment of New Hampshire Militia, Thomas Stickney Colonel, which Company marched from Pembroke in N. H. July 1777 and joined the Northern Continental Army at Bennington and Stillwater. Two of the soldiers were Daniel Hadley and Obadiah Hadley.

Hampshire to join the Continental Army at West Point 1780. Abel Hadley and Obadiah Hadley enlisted July 6, 1780, and were discharged Oct. 24, their distance to travel from West Point being 275 miles. On page 101 is a list of Capt. Hadden's company, with their residences: Obadiah Hadley was from Dunbarton, N. H.

In the first mentioned volume above, see references to the following Hadleys: Abel, Amos, Daniel, Ezekiel, George, Jonathan, Joseph, Moses, Obadiah, Samuel, Stephen.

January 24, 1814 (vol. 101, p. 575, Nashua, N. H., Records), Obadiah Hadley of Bradford, N. H., to John Peirce of Portsmouth, N. "together with all my house other buildings & improvement on both said tracts of Land" etc.

Lease: Pierce to Obadiah Hadley, Jan. 14, 1814 :- "all that farm & land on which said Hadley lives", 100 acres, "during the term of the Natural lives of the said Hadley and his present wife" ... "during the whole life of said Marshall & his wife & the survivor" ... "yearly rent of one cent per annum." Signed, Obadiah Hadley. Witnesses: Samuel Garrison, Joseph Garrison, Saml Garrison, Jr.

(Note: Notice the name "Marshall", instead of Hadley, in the last line of the lease. It is that way in my copy, but probably it was my error in copying. - A. L. P. Or more likely Marshall was also included?)

There are numerous references to Obadiah Hadley on the Bradford, N. H., town records; and some on the Newbury (earlier name was Fishersfield), N. H. town records, for instance, his payment of taxes in 1796 and 1798.

New Hampshire Record, Town Papers, Newbury, vol. 12, pages 663-3.

May 20, 1791. Thirty-six inhabitants of the Town of Fishersfield (later named Newbury) petition for incorporation as a new town: "We the inhabitants of the Town of Fishersfield humbly sheweth that the Southwest Corner of this Town lying upon the west side of a great Mountain so that it is impossible for it to be Corroded by the Center of this Town which is the Reason of its not being settled before now for they could not get from the Corner of said Town without going through part of Londoll to the north end of said Mountain and then travel 5 five miles they would be no nearer the Center than when first set out - therefore we think it reasonable and necessary that it should be incorporated with the Corners of several other Towns agreeable to the prayer of a Number of petitioners for the same Provided it does not include Samuel Garrison farm or otherwise as your Honours in your wisdom see meet" etc. Fishersfield May 20th 1791. The 6th signer was "Obadiah Hadley". Also three Marshalls signed.

Dec. 27, 1791 a portion of Fishersfield was set off, combined with other parts and incorporated as Coshon. Apparently the land of Obadiah Hadley and the Marshalls was not included. For Nov. 21, 1796 "The Petition of the Inhabitants of the South part of Fishersfield" ... that so much .. be set off from said Fishersfield & annexed to Dunbarton .. as will make a straight line" etc. Signed by seven men, Obadiah Hadley and three Marshalls among them. The petition was granted Dec. 6, 1796.

Abel⁶ Hadley (Amos⁵, Samuel⁴, George³, Samuel², George¹) of Canaan, New Hampshire

The Canaan, N. H. History shows that he signed a petition Jan. 26, 1785:

was surveyor of highways, 1786; on the meeting-house committee 1792; paid 24 pounds for pew no. 12. The Canaan 1790 census shows his family as -

wife Lydia had: Children:

The 1825 Canaan, N. H. voters included Simon, Moses, Moses Jr., and Amos Hadley.

Oct. 23, 1923, Mrs. Alice M. Hadley of Dunbarton, N. H., wife of David M. Hadley, wrote: "Lucy Martin, wife of Simon Hadley, and Mary Martin, or Molly, wife of Moses Hadley, were daughters of Joshua and Mary Martin of Goffstown, N. H. The Martin family resided a short distance from the Dunbarton, N. H. Amos Hadley family. It is said they had a path through the forest over the hill, between the two farms. The Hadleys were a long lived family, and mostly farmers, noted for being strictly honest."

Villeby C. Hadley of Dunbarton, N. H. mar. 1824 - Nancy; their son Amos born May 14, 1825; and his son, Amos E., b. March 24, 1835.

Stephen Hadley of Dunbarton, N. H., m. Feb. 3, 1796, Goffstown, N. H. Mary Cheney, "dau. of Daniel and Elizabeth (Hadley) Cheney, since 1730 of Goffstown." Mary was bapt. in 1761 in Harpstead, N. H. Stephen and Mary had 3 children. See Goffstown History.

Phillip Hadley and Jane McGilliso, both of Dunbarton, N. H., mar. there June 7, 1793. Their son Rodney was born there October 3, 1793 (died in Coffeetown, N. H., Oct. 6, 1832; had mar. Lydia S. Brown, and had 3 children).

Israel Hadley of Bow, N. H., b. April 6, 1791; mar. Sally Woodbury, dau. of Hezekiah and Hepsibah (Colby) Woodbury; ten children.

The most natural query is, whether the above Stephen Hadley, Phillip Hadley, and Israel Hadley may not have been sons of Amos and Dolly Hadley of Dunbarton, N. H. Israel's wife was the daughter by a first wife of Dolly Hadley's second husband, Hezekiah Woodbury.

Abel Hadley (Samuel,⁴ George,³ Samuel,² George¹) of New Hampshire Mass.
born, August 13, 1737, Plaistow, N. H. record; bapt. August 14, 1737, Haverhill died, before January 29, 1793
mar. November 20, 1755, Hampstead, New Hampshire
Eunice Emerson
born,
died.

Children, born New Hampshire probably:

Ephraim, ⁶ b.	d. after Jan. 29, 1793
Eunice, ⁶ mar. - Straw	d. " " " "
Lois, ⁶ " - Davis	d. " " " "

Abel Hadley's family evidently went to Keare, N. H., probably before 1773. A Eunice Hadley and Thomas Davis, both of Keare, mar. there March 5, 1780; very possibly she was the widow of Abel Hadley, whose daughter Lois mar. a Davis. - An Ephraim Hadley of Keare mar. Mary Ferron of Newton, N. H., in Newton, March 1773. Probabilities seem very strong that Ephraim was son of Abel Hadley above; but if so Mary probably soon died, and Ephraim mar. (2) Susan Coburn, judging by page 164 of Machias, Maine, Centennial, 1883, which states that Ephraim Hadley mar. Susan Coburn, and their children were: Abel, Coburn, Ephraim, Stephen, Mary, Sally, George. The son Abel mar. Jane Berry, and their children were: Susan, Hannah, Stephen, Jane, Obadiah, Sally, Abel, William W., John, Wilson. According to the Keare, N. H. History, Ephraim Hadley in 1775 served 6 months in the patriot army, and fought at Bunker Hill. In 1789 Ephraim legally opposed a claim made by the town, and very likely his strong opposition led to, or partly influenced, his removal to Machias, Maine, where he was at the time of the 1790 census, his family not yet arrived.

Simon Hadley (Samuel,⁴ George,³ Samuel,² George¹), probably of Mt. Desert, Maine born, February 27, 1741, Plaistow, N. H. record died, after Jan. 29, 1793
mar. ?

The 1790 census gives a Simon Hadley as head of a family of 2 - 2 - 7, in Mount Desert town, Maine, and this was probably the above Simon and his wife and their three sons and perhaps six daughters. Machias, Maine, where Simon Hadley's nephew Ephraim Hadley went about 1790 is to the east of Mount Desert, and not a great distance away.

Baptisms of the children of Samuel Hadley in the North Parish Congregational Church, Haverhill, Mass., were as follows: - Abel Hadley, Aug. 14, 1737; Amos Hadley, Dec. 2, 1739; Simon Hadley, July 4, 1742; Ezekiel Hadley, March 13, 1744; Sarah Hadley, April 13, 1747.

The June 5, 1742 Haverhill, Mass., deed of Peter and Timothy Lee and "George Hadley and Samuel Hadley the Sr", describes, or identifies, Samuel as 3rd because Samuel's uncle Samuel and older cousin Samuel (born 1707) were living.

Geography:- Concord, New Hampshire, has for almost its entire westerly boundary the town of Hopkinton (where Ezekiel¹ Hadley lived), and for its north boundary the irregular town of Bow. In the smallest triangular space between Hopkinton and Bow is the town of Dunbarton (where Amos² Hadley lived), that itself a bit touches Concord in such a way that the towns of Hopkinton and Bow do not quite touch each other. In the big right-angled space with Hopkinton to the north and Dunbarton to the east is the town of Weare where the family of Abel³ Hadley lived. (Monaker is also on the north of Weare, as it is the entire west side of Hopkinton). On the north of Hopkinton (and Monaker) is the town of Warner, where I think Samuel⁴ Hadley, father of Ezekiel⁵, was living in 1770. On the west side of Warner is the town of Bradford, where Obadiah Hadley lived. And north of Bradford is Newbury (the Fishersfield that first included Obadiah Hadley's Bradford farm).

(Captain George Hadley of Weare, N. H. had a son Philip born Aug. 6, 1770, who mar. Katie Kelley, Feb. 8, 1795, Salton, N. Philip Hadley died Bradford, Vermont, October 30, 1853, at 83 years, 2 mos., 23 days; was born Ware, N. H. Catherine Hadley, wife of Philip Hadley, died May 4, 1854, Bradford, Vt., at 84 years.

And not only did the end of the preceding page arrive, a bit too soon; but also the end of my research, that I had already extended much beyond my original intention.

To my much satisfaction, Mrs. Alice M. Hadley, of Dunbarton, New Hampshire, is ably collecting records of the Hadley family, with the hope of publication at some date. The family will be greatly indebted to her for her valuable work. And will do themselves a favor by assisting her with records and other ways all they can.

Jan. 20, 1923, Lunenburg, Mass., Mrs. Edith Anna⁹ (Hadley) Harley wrote a cousin:- "I remember him very well. (her grandfather, Abel⁷ Hadley of Eden, Vt.) My father looked very much like him." "My father was the oldest child and he was born in Grantham." "When they first went to Vermont they lived in a log house near the line between Hyde Park and Eden. Uncle Vil showed the foundation of this house to Clayton (once upon a time) and told him that Aunt Julia was born there. Bertha Hadley was in town two weeks ago and she said that Frank Sargent has the family Bible that Aunt Lou had from her mother (meaning Grandma Hadley)." Seems good to get this personal family note.
